11th December 2009

Andersons Outlook 2010 Published

Andersons annual 'Outlook' publication, now in its fourteenth year has just been released. The widely-respected briefing aims to provide a realistic and objective assessment of the prospects for the farming industry over the next 12 months and beyond.

'Outlook 2010' contains contributions from Partners and Consultants from all three Partnerships that jointly work under the Andersons brand. It provides analysis on future prospects for all the major farming sectors. It also looks at the general economic situation, the political and regulatory factors affecting the agricultural industry, and the business issues farmers are going to face in the coming year or two. The hope is to provide some thought-provoking discussion as the industry heads towards the new year.

Outlook 2010 is sent to all Andersons' clients and contacts. Additional copies can be obtained free of charge by contacting us at the address below. The publication is also available to download from both www.andersons.co.uk (see 'Publications' section) and www.theandersonscentre.co.uk.
